ACCIDENT ON THE SAVANNAH AND CHARLES-THOUSAND FEET OF TRESTLE DESTROYED .- The up train on the Savanuah and Charleston Railros had reached White Hall Station, on Wednesday morning, when a fire was discovered on the tres tle, about five miles this side of the Yemassee Further progress was impossible, and the passen gers' baggage and mail were carried around the trestle by a small pole car and conveyed to Yemassee. The Beaufort mail went through tha far, but the mail for points beyond were brought back. The engine was then reversed and the train returned to the city. When near Rantowles, it encountered a crank car containing Mr. Smith. the roadmaster, and three colored hands. Through some inistake in the signals, a collision occurred, by which Mr. Smith was seriously injured, the crank car passing over his leg, breaking the thigh and inflicting severe bruises. The colored men escaped unburt. Mr. Smith was brought to the railroad yard, on the other side of the river, and attended to by Dr. Jenkins. A con struction train has been sent to the trestle, and the damage will probably be repaired this week.

The Judge announced that in the present stat of his health only those cases would be tried where the parties were now in jail, and those under ball and at large would stand over to th next term.

The Grand Jury made the following presen

PRESENTMENT OF THE GRAND JURY

The Grand Jury for the November term of the Court of General Sessions and Common Pleas respectfully report that they have visited and examined the various public buildings and find them all in a very satisfactory condition. Still, they would recommend further improvements in the instances hereinafter mentioned.

The Grand Jury find that, in accordance with the suggestions of the Grand Jury at the June term of this court, the equity rooms of the clerk's office have been relitted in a manner that reflects credit upon those having the same in charge, and affords ample convenience for the purposes of that branch of the court. They note with satisfaction that considerable progress has been made in the work of preserving and arrange, the faction that considerable progress has been made in the work of preserving and arranging the valuable records and papers beretofore neglected

The jury find that the law side of the clerk's lice has been improved in the manner recommended by the jury at the last term, the room being refitted and made to correspond with the other portions of the building, and the unwelld furniture replaced by that of a more convenien character.

They recommend that the books containing the index of judgments, from the year 1846 to the present time, being now in a defaced and worn condition, be rewritten and arranged texteo graphically under the direction of the clerk. They would add that the Courthouse is now in complete order, and is an ornament to the city and county, and likely to need no more repairs for many years.

county, and likely to need no more repairs for many years.

They have visited the Fireproof Building and found the same in good order. As recommended by the Grand Jury at the last term, they recommend the rebinding, in the Mesne Conveyance office, of old record books, the recopying of old and valuable plats, and the construction of a water closet for the use of the building.

They have visited the Jail and found the same in a cleanly and healthy condition; the foot of the prisoners was examined and found to be good, and the quantity furnished them sufficient. Some of the prisoners are nearly destinate of clothing; they recommend that clothing be furnished them. The pipe used for conveying water to the interior of the building needs repairs. In its present condition, it is doing great damage to to the interior of the ballaling needs repairs. In its present condition, it is doing great damage to that part of the building. A boiler should be placed in the bath room of the jail in order that the prisoners may have warm water for bathing purposes, believing the same would conduce to the health and comfoct of the prisoners.

The attention of the Grand Jury has been called to the displetated and impassable condition of the roads and bridges in some parts of the country, particular in the Parish of St. John's Berkeley, and we urge that the country commissioners give this subject their early consideration.

Respectfully submitted by the Grand Jury.

P. Moran, Poreman.

THE ACADEMY OF MUSIC.-The second representation of "School" last evening was even more creditable than on the opening night. The house, of course, was not as crowded as on Wednesday. About ν o'clock there was some slight confusion among the audience, caused by some to the upper gallery. There was a visible improvement in the music, and we were glad to see the acting marked by greater warmth, Miss Alexander especially, who looked her prettlest, with her part throughout. Miss Eldridge, whose pleasant and conscientions style of acting has long been familiar to us on other boards, fully susained her reputation. We can honestly say that ould have personated "Beaufoy" and "Poyntz" more creditably than did the gentlemen who played those very gentlemanly parts. They were model young men of the period. Farintosh, of course, won the lion's share of the applause. tory, none of the points of the play being lost upon the enthusiastic audience.

of the opening night has not yet been made public. There were on that occasion fully 1400 persons in the building, and at the conclusion of the performance so ready were the means of egress that the building was cleared, and that too, without any especial effect, in just three onds. Within five minutes minutes and ten se after the curtain fell the lights were extinguished This rapid egress was much facilitated by the large doubledoor on Market street, which allowed the audience to step directly from the orchestra chairs into the street. It should also be men tioned that the ventilation, which was not as good as could be wished on Wednesday evening. was improved last night to a very marked degr

German Friendly Society.

In the dispensation of an All-wise Provilence, our society is again called upon to record the deaths of several of our members. Mr. John A. Cook became a member January 19, 1842, and departed this life November 15, 1869 in his seventy-second year, and was, therefore, a member for more than a quarter of a century during which time he manifested a deep interest n its welfare; his remains were interred in the Cemetery of St. John's Lutheran Church. Mr. CHARLES FREMDER became a member April

3, 1867, and departed this life November 4, 1869 in his thirty-fourth year; his remains were inter red in Bethany Cemetery. It is not for us to pass our culogy ceased brothers; they were well known in the community in which they lived and died. To us they were true and worthy members; we, there-fore, bow submissively to the will of Ged. Be it, Resolved, That in the death of Mr. John A. Cook and of Mr. Charles Fremers, the society has lost good and worthy members, and the community useful and industrious citizens; that we deeply condole and sympathize with the families of the deceased in their sad bereavement, and that blank pages in the Journal be dedicated to their memories.
